Casey at the Bat is the single most famous baseball poem ever written. This charming children's poem is now a fully illustrated story book that you can share with your children anywhere you go! Keep the classics alive with this delightful classic tale, Casey at the Bat.

A little history... Authored by Ernest L. Thayer (who signed the work simply as “Phin”), the poem first appeared in the June 3, 1888 issue of the The San Francisco Examiner, but was hardly noticed until a New Yorker named Archibald Gunter shared the poem with a performing artist and close friend named De Wolf Hopper. Hopper gave a performance of the poem in August of 1888 to an audience packed with members of the New York and Chicago baseball clubs, and the poem has lived on ever since.

Casey at the Bat is a classic that we all grew up with as children. Knowledge Works Company strives to keep the classics alive by bringing them to life in beautifully illustrated story books for children available in different languages and in all different digital platforms so they can be read or listened to on all devices.
